Over the past 70 years, Tanzania has been hit by tropical cyclones in rare cases. The most significant event (known as "Lindi tropical cyclone") made landfall close to the Lindi town (southern Tanzania) on 15 April 1952, resulting in 34 fatalities.

Source: NOAA Historical Hurricane Tracks, Sallema et al.